PINEAPPLE DREAM

New album released on May 3

You may remember we recently told you we were going to be helping out some friends and like-minded souls by doing some press for a great French label called Wool Recordings. Well, after Luther Russell's wonderful 'Motorbike' EP, their next release comes on May 3, courtesy of label boss Franck Rabeyrolles' own musical project, Double U.

'Pineapple Dream' is Double U's fifth album, and it's an absolutely gorgeous lo-fi dreampop gem. At times it sounds like Beach House if they'd grown up listening to nothing but Pink Floyd and Tangerine Dream, at others a more whimsical Yo La Tengo, or Atlas Sound gone folktronica (do people still use that word?).

However it sounds, we think that you will be hard-pushed to find a warmer, more human record this year. What's more, it features guest vocals from Stereolab's Laetitia Sadier on opening track 'Interludic'.

The full tracklisting for 'Pineapple Dream' is:

1. Interludic (Featuring Laetitia Sadier)
2. Eh Bro
3. Pineapple Dream
4. I Made Up My Mind
5. Breathing The Wind
6. Ring Me
7. Supersize
8. Whatever
9. Deconstruction
10. The Wedding
11. Enough
12. Pianorgano
13. Sweet Family
14. Take The Bus
